

June 2009 Overview

The month begins optimistically after the mayhem of last month due to Mercury the planet of communication moving backwards. Plans were left in limbo and future goals were impeded. Not to mention, travel and communication were thrown into disarray. Now with Mercury in forward motion we can pick up where we left off early in May, issues in doubt now begin to move and pick up pace. The Sun in vibrant Gemini promises a stimulating and hectic social life, so get amongst it and enjoy what life has to offer. Venus the planet of love moves into sensual Taurus, beautifying the home and oneself takes precedence over other factors, after the stress of the last couple of months this is certainly a welcome relief. The full moon on June 7 in the sign of Sagittarius heightens situations in regards to travel, so if travelling there may be anxiety preceding this journey, get your agenda and other information organised before you set sail. On a global scale, this will certainly affect international travel and the influx and the spread of disease worldwide. June 8 is powerfully aspected Venus day, attractions are felt most strongly, sexual desire and passionate feelings can be overwhelming, but love can go beyond the physical that will emerge over time into a wonderful union. Jupiter the planet of prosperity and abundance is in backward motion until October 13. Luck won't fall into your lap, you are going to have to go out and get it, and if you do you will reap enormous rewards come mid October when it moves forward. After all Jupiter is the planet of karma, 'what you sow today is what you reap in the future'. By the end of the month a new moon in domesticated Cancer opens opportunities for a comfortable and secure home life. So set up your roots, start to build your home and nurture your family to ensure your future prosperity.

'Looking into astrology which seems indispensable for a proper understanding of mythology. There are strange and wondrous things in these lands of darkness, laden with rich knowledge of the human psyche'

Carl Jung, Psychiatrist and Influential Thinker

Monthly Stars – June

Aries

Long hours and arduous conditions at work have burnt you out, body and mind. Take time to chill, once luxurious Venus enters your house of money, it is time to lavish and indulge a little. The full moon highlights journeys, so take a sabbatical to find some solace. Past work and accolades has generated a positive reputation in the work force. Enticing offers and propositions are there for the taking. Being confronted with many possibilities, you are faced with the challenge of choosing and acting in realistic terms to make these potentials manifest. Due to the backward motion of Mercury last month, you were not able to launch projects or make progress as you would have liked. From June 13 astrological changes gives you the impetus to take a leap of faith with confidence, such as approaching a client, potential employer or taking a bold step with the object of your affection. June 22nd is a fantastic day for setting up your home base and nurturing the ones you love. Optimistic vibes abound the family life and even though there may be responsibilities and ambitions to fulfil there is the sanctuary of the home to keep you on the straight and narrow.

Taurus

Venus the love planet advances into Taurus from June 6. Beautifying yourself and home takes place under these vibes. People will be drawn to you like moths to a flame, and if there has been any discord with others in the last few months, Venus adds a little sparkle and makes life a lot more harmonious. Attractions and flirtations occur under this aspect, especially on June 8 with a foreigner or someone who is well travelled. Be aware, indulgence will see money flowing out rather rapidly, so ensure you pace yourself and think carefully before any expensive purchases. Work and projects will be impeded by others, not maliciously but rather ignorantly, especially on 9 and 10 June. But, now that Mercury has resumed forward direction there are less restrictions and you are able to cope with adverse situations. Career and work responsibilities from June 15 will begin a go slow, you won't be so intense or high profile which is a relief for you. This will give you time to live a little, spend time with loved ones and make future plans that you can implement from mid October onwards. Travel or journeys takes precedence, an adventure in the future is in sight and this is what keeps you going through stresses and tribulations of life.

Gemini

Following Gemini new moon late last month, you are now invigorated by a new thought process, there is a different path to follow and you are motivated to get moving. Last month due to the planet Mercury moving backwards, it was hard to progress, you spent much of the month in organisational mode. However, before you commence, new plans may be thwarted by difficulties in the home life, perhaps through living conditions or family members causing distress. There may be discord within the partnerships arena especially at full moon time on June 7; this may be personal or business. Issues come to the forefront, don't force an ultimatum, let situations take their course. Fortunately Venus the planet of harmony eases ruffled feathers and soothes frazzled nerves bringing a sense of balance into your life. June 8 will be a prosperous day to receive some sort of funding through government rebates or insurance claims making you feel a lot more content for the future. Invigorated by this surge of energy you use your gift of the gab to take you places and get you what you want; most will be succumbed by your charm and wit. Job seeking, pitching or selling idea to the market, meets with a positive response. So get to it there is really no time to waste!

Cancer

Venus blows in strong positive aspects at the beginning of the month. Friendships of the flirtatious kind have developed into a strong union. In fact no relationship with you can be a light hearted affair, certainly for the next couple of years they will be strong, intense and passionate. There will be of course difficulties along the way, but all par for the course in building a solid partnership for the future. The full moon on June 7 highlights the work and health life. Long hours and stressful situation are taking its toll on your wellbeing, you need to call into question if this career choice is serving your best interests and if not you may need to take stock of your life and make some practical decisions. Close friends will be able to offer you practical advice and assistance. Being a tenacious crab you are a reluctant to step outside your comfort zone but you are being encouraged to do so. By June 22 the new moon is stared in your sign, this is the official start of your astrological year, what begins now at this time has the ability to go leaps and bounds, so follow the advice of loved ones and take a brave step into the unknown.

Leo

The month opens with energetic power directed into your career zone. Fundamental changes are taking place in your working life. You are looking to completely reinvent yourself career wise and will do so in the years to come. Venus will give you the encouragement to take some positive steps and begin now towards that goal. Heads of organisations will certainly recognise your endurance and staying power. Social opportunities will be coming in thick and fast, but will be unquestionably burning a hole in your financial pocket. There will never be a shortage of places to go, but pace yourself to ensure you are cashed up to enjoy social festivities. The full moon on June 7 emphasises love and children, affectionate emotions will hit a few speed bumps and children will be a burden. Once the full moon passes you would have worked out a system with your children and been able to iron out any problems in the love stakes. As the month draws to a close, the new moon will bring about positive family vibes, you know that the family structure is most important in your life despite your personal ambitions, and you are willing to do all you can to ensure that you can build a warm, and caring atmosphere for the future.

Virgo

A case of wanderlust is taking over you; a yearning to travel to an exotic location far from the hum drum routine of life is what keeps you striving and motivated in your day. Attractions to people from foreign countries can take place now opening up your world in new and exciting ways. Or perhaps a relationship with a foreigner has enticed you to travel and visit their country. The full moon in Sagittarius on June 7 falls in your home life, renovations or a house move take place causing the usual stress and strains and domestic grievances. Once the moon passes you are over this glitch, now you are able to make a very secure and homey environment for yourself in the future. On June 13 Mercury the planet of communication moves into your career and status, enlivening your communicative and writing skills. Presenting your talents to the public at large will give you the confidence to strive higher. However watch your energy levels they may be low at this time, so don't overwork and strain yourself under these vibes. As the month closes, the new moon highlights your friendships, what begins now has the power to go the distance and develop into something deep and powerful.

Libra

Since the start of the year, far reaching changes have transpired in the home life. Buying and selling of a property, relocations and renovations will take precedence in the years to come. Financial affairs and links with another party will be entwined with your home and property. Now as Venus moves into your house of joint partnership, together as a couple you will purchase valuable assets or pool your resources to create a dream home which will bring long lasting value in the future. The full moon on June 7 will emphasize your desire for change of scenery, especially in relation to your career. The seeds of a new working life may be planted for the future, inspiring changes to come. Mercury, the swift moving planet enters the zone of travel on June 13, so if you are on a journey you will meet many people and contacts who will be instrumental in your future. This would certainly be an opportune time to sell yourself positively to those that matter, hopefully establishing connections for the future. As you reach the end of the month, a new moon will emphasise the career and status, public recognition arrives for past effort and your creative talents. Finally you can look back and say 'yes it was all worth it!'

Scorpio

As the month opens, new thought process and lessons learnt within a partnership has motivated change in the dynamics of relationships. Establishing some ground rules, you are able to make a union work positively for the better in the future. Now you are less dependent on another party, enabling you to make positive strides in leaps and bounds. With an encouraging atmosphere in your relationship sector, your working partnerships will also benefit, you are able to work constructively to get the job done. The full moon on June 7 brings emphasis in the zone of finances, funds are bit stretched at the moment. Cash will be spent extravagantly on loved ones and social plans. Enjoy! When life is moving confidently you want to live it up. However you need to rein it in and make productive plans for the future. The desire to change your home circumstances either through renovations or buying a property will be have its technical hiccup, especially when buying with another. Luckily with Venus in a compatible placement, harmonious vibes will ease the tension in decision making. The month ends with the new moon in your travel sector creating visions and promise of a journey to take place in the future with the one you love.

Sagittarius

Energy and determination expended in the working life has generated profitable circumstances such as well paid job, sales bonus or pay rise. However, close relationships will be hindered by your working obligations. As you climb higher the personal life will be neglected, try to strike a balance or ensure that your loved ones understands the commitment and responsibilities that need to be sustained as this time. The full moon will on June 7 will fall in your sign of Sagittarius drawing attention to any problems that you are encountering now. As always you have the desire to get away from it all and travel, however, obligations keeps you pinned down in one place for a while, even though the desire for freedom will be clipping at your heels. Colleagues in your profession are thought provoking, instigating new thought processes and innovative ideas. Working in a partnership will be beneficial, bringing hopes of profits and recognition in the not too distant future. As the month comes to close financial investments get a boost of encouragement either through interest earned or insurance pay out. The future seems promising and there is much to be gained, especially when travelling and sharing the journey with another.

Capricorn

The month leads to beneficial changes, either through a love affair or children; which will have a profound effect on you causing you to transform and revise your life in some way. As you come to a realisation that to it is not all about money or career but other factors that make you a well rounded individual. Venus placed in the house of love this month brings attractions and warm feelings with children and family members. The full moon on June 7 accents your house of dreams and intuition, fears and hopes for the future may be ruminating in the subconscious. Being the eternal worrier of the zodiac, time spent writing down your doubts honestly, and looking at solutions to problems will bring you to the realisation it is not as bad as it seems. The working life will now move into another phase, what has served you for so long may not be where you want to head in the future. Writing, public speaking and promoting yourself to a public is more challenging to you now. Rather than being so premeditated with your needs and wants, go with your gut instinct. The winds of change will be blowing in the years to come so begin your transformation now and take a step into the unknown.

Aquarius

The month opens with Venus the planet of love moving into the sector of home and family life. There is a desire to beautify the home and living environment, either through renovations or purchasing luxurious beautiful items. After the stresses and strains of the past month there is a need to make the home a relaxed and peaceful environment where you can find some solace after the craziness of the day. As the emotional full moon peaks on June 7, the friendship and loyalty of someone close may be tested or perhaps you do not see eye to eye in a situation. Resolution will be in sight once the full moon passes. When the planet of communication moves into your artistic sector, creative writing and ingenious ideas will be received favourably by the public at large. The future is still a shifting landscape, it is hard to know where you stand, but continue to make plans and act on your aspirations. Once we reach October, the rewards of the past will be sweet indeed. By June 22 new working prospects open up for the future. Keep your ear to the ground and options open. However, once you make a choice, you will be faced with the challenge of ensuring in practical terms that this potential can become a concrete reality.

Pisces

As the month begins, Venus the planet of love illuminates your communication zone; therefore thoughts and a desire for love and romance are on top of mind at the moment. Through a little positive thinking you just may find what you are looking for. The full moon on June 7 highlights your career and status; situations come to a head at this time. Public recognitions bring its own dilemmas, although it represents the peak in creative life, challenges come out of the word work particularly the envy and competitiveness of others may arise out of a moment of triumph. As you make your ascent to the top you will be plagued by doubts and insecurities which is only natural for a peaceful loving fish. Self belief and the understanding that you are contributing something unique to this world will ease the apprehension you may sometimes feel. The planet of significant transformation resides in your friendship sector for much of the year, relationships of the platonic kind will have a profound effect on you, changing your way of thinking and how you view the world. The new moon on June 22 brings in a new phase of creativity and love with your partner, be it business or personal. Relationships blossom becoming more encouraging, inspiring you creatively and spiritually.